british society of animal science

Our early career animal scientists shape our society for the future

what is BSAS?

The British Society of Animal Science provides a platform for those in animal science learning, animal science research, and industry and stakeholder innovation, and production to network and grow

Our webinars, workshops and conferences enable crucial networking and the sharing of updates and ideas. Whilst our accreditation register and exclusive resources enable members to advance their personal and professional skill development

BSAS encompasses a vast range of disciplines from nutrition to microbiology to genetics and much more

All to improve the production and welfare of animals

Livestock | Aquaculture | Equine | Companion animals | Zoo

what does BSAS offer for EARLY CAREERS?

BSAS is driven to engage and develop those within the early career animal scientist community. We provide training, funding and networking opportunities to help you practise and perfect key skills and share your work

The BSAS Early Career Council ensures that the society continues to provide current information and advice to help you take the next steps in your career path

"I can keep up to date with the latest global animal science news"

"I get opportunities to present my research"

"BSAS is a great way to network with other animal scientists in a huge range of disciplines"

"BSAS puts on great dedicated events for early careers"

"I can connect with lots of industries in searching for jobs"

funding for AWARDS | GRANTS | SCHOLARSHIPS

Our range of awards, grants and scholarships offered throughout the year are open to students and early career animal scientists. They are designed to provide funding for training opportunities and experiences to enhance skills and professional development

With our funding opportunities ranging from £750 to £5000, they offer unique opportunities specifically for animal scientists to attend relevant training courses to enhance skills

student attendance at the BSAS Annual Conference to attend conferences or workshops

Travel Bursaries
opportunities for students from emerging countries

The BSAS Accreditation Register is not just for those who are established in their careers, with its 'Affiliate' and 'Associate' levels specifically designed to recognise the knowledge and expertise of those early on in their career. The register is applicable to a vast range of disciplines relating to early career animal science and technology.

get ACCREDITED!

From those studying in higher education in animal science or veterinary related courses, to those starting out in relevant industry or policy careers. Applying and maintaining registration improves key professional skills and exposes those in the early stages of their career to processes which they may not otherwise have been introduced.

MENTORING & BUDDY UP schemes

All BSAS members are welcome to participate in the Mentoring and Buddy up schemes

Benefit from the knowledge, experience, and feedback of another academic or industry member in animal science by requesting a BSAS mentor

Alternatively, the BSAS Buddy Up scheme aims to connect individuals on a more informal basis. This could be with a fellow student for example, where both benefit from supporting and encouraging one another

undergraduate AMBASSADORS

Are you an undergraduate animal science (or related field) student who is keen to actively promote BSAS membership, news, conferences, workshops, awards and publications?

Then become an undergraduate ambassador!

undergraduate THESIS OF THE YEAR 2025

To recognise and celebrate the hard work and quality of undergraduate theses, supervisors are invited to submit up to 2 of their best presented theses or dissertations by animal science undergraduates submitted in 2025

The winner will get the opportunity to present at the BSAS Annual conference 2026
